

Give Me Five:

The Child Benefit
Top-up Campaign

“I have two kids, so £10 a week extra could allow us to buy fresh fruit and hopefully not rely on food banks much.”

“£5 a week extra for my family would mean some weeks saying Yes instead of No to my Child.”

Give Me Five: Campaign to top up Child Benefit in Scotland

|  |   |
|--|---|
| Petition summary and background | We are calling on the Scottish Government to 'top-up' child benefit by £5 per week.                           |
| Action petitioned for           | We, the undersigned, are concerned citizens who urge our leaders to act now to end child poverty in Scotland. |

| Printed Name | Signature | Address | Comment | Date |
|--------------|-----------|---------|---------|------|
|              |           |         |         |      |
|              |           |         |         |      |
|              |           |         |         |      |
|              |           |         |         |      |
|              |           |         |         |      |

Give Me Five:

The Child Benefit
Top-up Campaign

“I have two kids, so £10 a week extra could allow us to buy fresh fruit and hopefully not rely on food banks much.”

“£5 a week extra for my family would mean some weeks saying Yes instead of No to my Child.”

| Printed Name | Signature | Address | Comment | Date |
|--------------|-----------|---------|---------|------|
|              |           |         |         |      |
|              |           |         |         |      |
|              |           |         |         |      |
|              |           |         |         |      |
|              |           |         |         |      |